Prerequisites:

Moving from Reporting to Analysis

Course Description:

The Tableau Analysis Ninja course will take the theory, framework, and checklist discussed in the Reporting to Analysis course, and apply it to Delta data on a department level. This will be hands on reinforcement of the concepts with immediate application to each group's reporting.

The course will be user driven, but guided and aided by the instructor.

Each group will look at their existing monthly reports, and some recent ad hoc reporting they've done, and use the skills taught in the Reporting to Analysis course to identify opportunities for improvement, enhancement or even reduction or elimination. The session will involve collaborative brainstorming, facilitated by the instructor, and then the instructor will help the group make the desired changes, coaching them on calculations, formatting, functionality, etc.

Each group has the option to sign up for a 3.5-hour time block to review existing reports and improve.

The end goal will be to both improve, streamline, and automate the existing reports and the "monthly book" as much as possible.
